As the creature came up from the dark water it lit everything up. He told me to jump onto his antenna and he would help me get back to land. I saw that all the smaller fish followed him. He told me that they depended on his light so they can be safe from all the large unknown creatures in the sea. He said his name was Shox McGivin. I asked Shox how his light came about and he told me he was born with this gift and wanted to help others with it. Not only did his light help the small fish but also fishermen who were lost at sea.
